

INTRODUCING PHILIP HANSON

This month Lornham welcomes Philip Hanson into the role of Property Manager within our Block management team where he will be looking after our ever-expanding portfolio.

Philip has a wealth of experience managing multiple high-end properties in Central London, with specialist management experience within Chelsea and Mayfair.

Rupert Wertheimer, Lornham's Head of Block Management says: "I am delighted to have Philip joining us. His knowledge, experience, and practical interest in Central London property are clear. Matched with a positive attitude and great communication style his contribution to the team will be invaluable, helping us to continue to deliver the high standards of service Lornham expects for our clients."

On getting to know Philip he says "I like to stay active. At the weekends you'll find me on the football pitch playing for my local team or in the gym weight training which I find is a great way to unwind. Come the evenings I like socialising with friends and for longer periods of time off, I'll be traveling to new places to learn about other cultures and lifestyles different from my own." Please join us in welcoming Philip.
