

TATLER

BYSTANDER STYLE BEAUTY ROYALS FEATU

London is still set to be a hot property market for the super-rich in 2025. Here's what they'll be buying

These are the properties UHNWs will be snapping up in 2025 competitive nature of actually getting their hands on a property. Dominic Wertheimer, Founding Director at Lornham says: 'Unlike other cities (i.e. Dubai) there is a constrained supply of new properties hence why purchasers have limited choice. As we come to the end of a key development cycle with many new builds almost

JAN 2025

AS FEATURED IN TATLER LIVING

We're thrilled to share that Dominic Wertheimer, Founder, has been featured in Tatler Living.

This exciting piece also includes insights from Katherine O'Shea, Real Estate Director at Coutts, and Islay Robinson, Founder of Enness Global.

Together, they explore the latest trends that ultra-high-net-worth (UHNW) individuals will be pursuing in 2025's property market.

A huge thank you to the Tatler team for shining a spotlight on Lornham in their latest feature about the hot property trends that are set to capture the attention of the super-rich in the coming year.

You can dive into the full article here to discover more about the insights and predictions shared by these industry leaders.