LINDSEY BURTON-HARRISON
PROPERTY MANAGER

This month, Lornham is thrilled to welcome Lindsey Burton-Harrison as she joins our expanding block management team in the role of Property Manager, concentrating on properties in Prime Central London.

With 15 years of experience in the property industry, including sales and lettings, property management, commercial, and building management, she has cultivated a collaborative approach to relationship building along with strong negotiation skills that she will bring to her new position.

In her spare time, Lindsey enjoys blogging about fashion and parenting, sharing her and her daughter's experiences throughout London. She has a deep passion for travel and is currently taking on the challenge of learning Japanese.
